

April 19, 2016

Happy Spring!

As nature is reawakening in our Northern Hemisphere, I have something fruitful to announce. My author film Green Dream, which contemplates nature's place within the city, is now available on-line.

After screenings in Malaysia, Australia, Switzerland and opening the Sofia Biting Docs Film Festival in Bulgaria, the film can now be purchased on video on demand at www.greendreamfilm.com (English and Bulgarian versions / French version coming soon)

An outdoor screening of Green Dream by Cinema out of the Box in Montreal.

Sales to Institutions

The film makes a great addition to schools, libraries or other institutions. It focuses its attention on the presence of nature all around us, and explores the importance of non-manicured green spaces, community engagement and the sense of home for the health of our cities. If you know of any institution which might be interested, I have a wonderful distributor V-tape, which will handle those sales.

Screenings Across Canada

An important aspect of this project is its desire to engage with nature on the streets, alleys and fields of our cities. I am planning screenings across Canada, and abroad, which will be followed by a walk to explore the nature around us. If you want to bring the film to your community, let me know.

Feel free to forward this press release to anyone that might be interested in the film. As an independent artist I rely on my network to spread the word!

Thank you, Maia